

There has been an increasing stream of enthusiasm among web design, usability, and UI/UX fanatics with less than a month left before launching of some of the top UX conferences of 2013. Just like 2012, 2013 is filled with many UI, UX, and web design conferences spread over several countries in the world. These conferences seek to make an impact to the fabric of the society by embarking on projects to develop and improve the digital arena in a way that improves and impacts positively on the society today. The top UX conferences of 2013 will be held by major cities in different countries across the world. This ensures that there is a global participation in the events. Some of the top UX conferences slotted for 2013 are as follows:

An Event Apart, Various Dates between August and December

Hosted By: An Event Apart

Locations: Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, San Diego, Seattle, Washington D. C.

Cost: Early Birds - $1,240.00; Regular Price - $1,340.00

Click here for more information.

UX Week 2013, August 20-23, 2013

Hosted By: Adaptive Path

Location: San Francisco, California, USA

Cost: Early Birds - $2,595; Regular Price - $2,695

Click here for more information.

UX Masterclass, October 2 & 4, 2013

Hosted By: UX Masterclass

Locations: Prague, Rome

Cost: Early Birds - 380 EUR; Regular Price - 560 EUR

Click here for more information.

Big Design Conference 2013, October 17-19, 2013

Hosted By: Big Design

Location: Dallas, Texas, USA

Cost: Early Birds - $175. Regular Price - $189

Click here for more information.

UXconference 2013, October 26, 2013

Location: Lugano, Switzerland

Hosted By: UXconference

Cost: Super Early Bird - 150 CHF; Early Bird - 250 CHF

Click here for more information.